Key Trends In The Healthcare Services Market

The Shared Medical Appointments (SMA) model is being increasingly adopted globally to optimize resources and reduce costs. This is a model generally defined as multiple patients being seen as a group by a multi-disciplinary medical care team for follow-up or routine care. It is being adopted by hospitals to create awareness and counsel individual patients dealing with similar medical conditions. The SMA supplements the traditional physician-patient appointment. SMAs provide individual evaluation and disease management for each patient at the same time that they provide counseling to the patient within a group setting.
