i2Chain Named Winner of the Top InfoSec Innovator Awards for 2022

i2Chain Won the Title of Top InfoSec Innovator for 2022

SAN FRANCISCO, CA, USA, October 27, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Cyber Defense Magazine, on its 10th year of honoring cybersecurity innovators, today named i2Chain as the "Winner of the Top InfoSec Innovator Awards for 2022." i2Chain is the leading startup for non-fungible & traceable business documents. i2Chain enables highly regulated entities to secure information through its life cycle by making the information tamper-proof, permissioned, and traceable.

i2Chain Winner of 2022 Infosec Innovator Award

Cyber Defense Magazine appointed panel of judges look at thousands of infosec companies and search for the most innovative, with great potential in responding to and preventing breaches, and these awards showcase those companies with this kind of incredible potential in the cybersecurity marketplace. i2Chain competed against many of the industry's leading providers of cybersecurity products and services for this prestigious award.

i2Chain is unique as CISOs use us to secure multi-clouds, and business leaders use us to accelerate business by securing communication over email, text, Teams or WhatsApp, both internally & externally"
Ajay Jotwani, Co-founder & CEO

"We're pleased to name i2Chain as the winner among a small, elite group of cybersecurity innovators for 2022," said Gary Miliefsky of www.cyberdefensemediagroup.com.

"We are unique as CISOs depend on the i2Chain app to secure multi-cloud stores, and business leaders use i2Chain to accelerate their business by communicating securely & compliantly over emails, text, Slack, and Teams - with internal & external stakeholders," said Ajay Jotwani, Co-founder & CEO, i2Chain. Mr. Jotwani adds, "We are thrilled to see i2Chain be named the Top InfoSec Innovator for 2022 because of our team's deep commitment to excellence, innovative infosec offering, market adoption, and the huge 'green field' opportunity in front of us in a multi-billion-dollar addressable marketplace."
