

Tarps Now® Releases New Guide to Construction Tarps

New informational guide focuses on improving Workplace Safety and Equipment Protection

ST. JOSEPH, MICHIGAN, UNITED STATES, March 13, 2023

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Tarps Now® is pleased to announce the release of a new informational entitled “Guide to Construction Tarps – Workplace Safety and Equipment Protection”. This new guide focuses on the opportunities to increase workplace safety and equipment protection both on and off the job site. Also highlighted some of the most common types of construction tarps and explain what they are used for. By understanding the different types of Construction Tarps available, contractors can make sure that selections are appropriate for any given task.

Heavy-duty industrial grade construction tarps provide a safe environment at job sites, plants, warehouses, in the field, and other work areas. They help protect people, equipment, and structures in these locations and take a wide range of forms. Types of construction tarps we have available for purchase include temporary building enclosure tarps, containment tarps, scaffold sheeting and scaffold tarps, concrete curing blankets, safety debris netting, construction scaffold debris netting, orange barrier fencing, safety snow fencing, lifting tarps, construction debris tarps, snow tarps, and basic tarps.

Heavy Duty Tarps

Vinyl Tarps, Canvas Tarps, Poly Tarps, and Mesh Tarps

Heavy Duty Tarps provide unparalleled protection for materials, equipment, and structures in a wide range of applications including commercial, manufacturing, trucking, construction, landscaping, and domestic settings. A few important characteristics actually make a tarpaulin heavy duty such as heavy mesh count with a strong thread shaft. At Tarps Now you will find the largest selection of heavy duty vinyl tarps, canvas tarps, poly tarps, and mesh tarps.

Other considerations when choosing heavy duty tarps is its denier, or thickness. To make sure there is the necessary strength to withstand harsh conditions and elements, a thicker denier may be required. Whatever your needs, Tarps Now has a Heavy Duty Tarp for every job.
