Using AI in AIChefs.co, we showcase millet recipes during PM Modi's US visit, combining innovation, cultural diversity, and a sustainable vision."

Priya Samant

The year 2023 has seen an unprecedented global emphasis on millets, a superfood that was among the first crops domesticated in India and now a traditional food staple for over half a billion people across Asia and Africa. Millets are currently grown in more than 130 countries and offer an immense potential to alleviate world hunger.

In reference to Prime Minister Modi's visit to the U.S., Priya Samant of Abris stated, "We believe that AI has the potential to revolutionize not only the way we create and appreciate food but also how we connect cultures and foster understanding. By harnessing the capabilities of AIChefs.co to highlight millet - a globally recognized superfood - in honor of Prime Minister Modi's visit, we have crafted a selection of recipes that embody innovation, cultural diversity, and a vision for a sustainable future."
