

Freedom Caucus of Western Virginia Endorses Four More Candidates for Local Offices

The Caucus has now endorsed 14 state and local candidates in 2023

WAYNESBORO, VIRGINIA , USA, August 27, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Freedom Caucus of Western Virginia reaffirms its unwavering

By knowing and working with these candidates, I am profoundly impressed with their knowledge, wisdom and drive. When they are elected, they will be the American ideal of true public servants."

dedication to promoting conservative values, limited government, and individual liberty. In a display of unity, the caucus proudly announces the individual endorsement of four additional exceptional candidates following its August 19 meeting in Waynesboro. These endorsements bring the total number of endorsed candidates for various state and local offices this year to an impressive fourteen.

At the August 19 meeting, where five distinguished speakers shared their perspectives; each candidate was individually endorsed by the Freedom Caucus:

**1. Sarah Kahle** - Republican Candidate for the Clerk of the Circuit Court in Frederick County. With a substantial background in the Virginia Public School System as a dedicated speech-language pathologist, Kahle's commitment to community improvement is evident.

**2. Wilson Fauber** - Independent candidate for Staunton City Council and current Vice Chairman of the Staunton Economic Development Authority. Fauber's dedication to economic growth and community development resonates deeply with the caucus's mission.

**3. Leslie Mathews** - Candidate for the South River District School Board in Warren County. As the Chapter Chairman for Moms for Liberty, Mathews's staunch advocacy for parental rights aligns seamlessly with the Freedom

Caucus's principles.

**4. Gloria Carlineo** - Carlineo brings a wealth of qualifications and a strong commitment to stopping radical indoctrination in schools. She aims to be a powerful voice for parents on the School Board and advocates for School Choice and effective student preparation for the future.

Walter Michael, the Republican nominee for the Botetourt Board of Supervisors, who was endorsed at a prior meeting, also addressed the caucus. He informed them that he will be running against an independent candidate, highlighting the diversity of choices and ideas within the upcoming election.
