“There's nothing more rewarding than being recognized for a job well done,” said John Vaccaro, president of Bettaway. “This honor is a testament to our team's skill, hard work and superior service. We are proud to share similar values with Arrive Logistics around teamwork and collaboration, establishing an enduring partnership that helps us excel and continuously improve our performance.”

Arrive works with some 70,000 trucking operators in its network. Bettaway was one of 20 service providers singled out as the “best of the best.” Arrive ranked its carriers of the year on a variety of criteria including equipment quality

and availability, responsiveness, on-time pickup and delivery, consistent transit time, claims, safety, data quality, overall customer service and support.

“Selecting just 20 outstanding performers from our portfolio of thousands of carriers was no easy task,” said Blair Blake, Vice President of Carrier Strategy for Arrive Logistics. “Bettaway consistently raised the bar. There were many instances throughout the year where they reinforced our trust in them and earned the respect of our customers by stepping up with winning solutions when same-day pickup or delivery disruptions occurred.”

“We also appreciate their support for our shared values off the road,” Blake said, noting that Bettaway collaborated with Arrive on a special project for Wreaths Across America, moving loads of wreaths from the Northeast down to a Florida cemetery to honor fallen soldiers. “Professional partnerships like this are special, and we feel fortunate to work with the Bettaway team.”
