Focus on employee well-being. Mental health and overall well-being are now key parts of workplace strategy. SHRI predicts that more companies will emphasize building supportive corporate cultures. Learning and Development (L&D) is being reinvented. As technologies evolve, the skills needed to stay competitive do too. SHRI also believes we will start to see an increase in micro-learning and AI-driven personalized learning. These are pivotal in closing the skills gap.

Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) are a strategic imperative. Organizations are increasingly seeing the importance of DEI beyond compliance. SHRI predicts that this will quickly become a vital contributor to innovation, employee satisfaction, and business success before the end of the year.

The Rise of HR Analytics: Data-driven HR practices are now mainstream. Predictive analytics are crucial in strategic decision-making. They apply from talent acquisition to retention. SHRI believes we will be seeing a lot more of this going into the final half of the year!
