Among the award winners was Mandarino Chiropractic, which was feted for its growth and the recent renovation of its Staten Island, N.Y., facility.

“This client is a well-respected expert who has been working in the industry for many years, helping tens of thousands of patients,” said Madison Fleming, a social media manager with Smart Marketing, as she presented the award. “They take care of some of the best athletes in New York and New Jersey, all while focusing on running their business effectively. They have six newly renovated locations with state-of-the-art equipment and style. The award for Best Expansion and Remodel goes to ... Mandarino Chiropractic!”

Since opening his first office in 1991, Dr. Frank J. Mandarino has grown his practice to include six state-of-the-art facilities, represented in New Jersey as New Jersey Sports Chiropractic, and in metropolitan New York, Highland, N.Y., and Long Island as Mandarino Chiropractic.

Reflecting upon the Best Expansion and Remodel Award, Dr. Mandarino said, "Since opening my first office over three decades ago, one of my unwavering goals has been to provide patients with leading-edge chiropractic care in an optimally attractive, comfortable, relaxing, clean, and inviting environment. On behalf of my patients, I see it as an obligation to ensure the remodeling and refreshing of my chiropractic offices take place in advance of the actual need – from the waiting areas right through to the treatment rooms. I didn't expect accolades for something I view as a natural part of running my practice, so I'm both humbled and delighted for these efforts to be recognized and praised by the team at Smart Marketing."

Popular among athletes and the non-athletic alike, Dr. Mandarino's multi-award-winning practice offers traditional and leading-edge therapeutic options with an emphasis on uncompromised patient care and service.
