BEPC Appoints New Officers, Including Long-time Leader Alisa Kim O'Neil as President
As part of BEPC's seamless leadership transition, Alisa Kim O'Neil, JD, CTFA, AEP®, CDFA®, previously BEPC's president-elect, moves into the role of president. A co-chief planning officer at Boston Financial Management, Kim O'Neil has been an active member of BEPC for close to 20 years, served as an officer since 2021, and has chaired numerous committees.

"I am very excited to be the 94th president of the Boston Estate Planning Council", said Alisa Kim O'Neil, president of BEPC. "I extend my gratitude to my fellow officers, board members, and committee leaders and members for their unwavering dedication, commitment, and camaraderie. I encourage new members to get involved and make BEPC your own. Our organization consistently rises to meet the challenges posed by the ever-evolving landscape of estate planning. The changes we have implemented, and will continue to pursue, enhance our capacity to provide exceptional value to our members.”

Richelle Maguire, CPA, AEP®, partner at PKF O'Connor Davies, becomes BEPC's past president and will continue to serve on the BEPC Board of Directors.

BEPC appointed three additional officers for the 2024-2025 term: Loring, Wolcott & Coolidge Trust, LLC Head of Fiduciary Services Thomas Francione, CTFA, AEP® as president-elect; Dwight Rudd Insurance Managing Partner Barbara Targum, CIC, CAPI as treasurer; and Crestwood Advisors Managing Director and Wealth Strategist Katherine M. Sheehan, JD, AEP®, as secretary.

Our organization consistently rises to meet the challenges posed by the ever-evolving landscape of estate planning.”
