Cleaning WorkSource offers a secure, dedicated job board for the cleaning industry with advanced tools, nationwide reach, and free job searches.

SARASOTA, FL, UNITED STATES, June 25, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- "The cleaning industry employs millions across the U.S., yet finding the right job or candidate remains a significant challenge," says Steven Pajevic, co-founder of Cleaning WorkSource. This innovative job board is set to transform how job seekers and employers connect in the cleaning sector.

A Vision Born from Experience

Steven and Kristina Pajevic have spent over a decade navigating the challenges of hiring in the cleaning industry. They experienced the inefficiencies of general job boards that often failed to connect them with the right candidates. Determined to find a better way, they envisioned a platform to address these specific needs and challenges.

From Frustration to Innovation

After years of struggling to find qualified candidates through existing job boards, Steven and Kristina decided to take matters into their own hands. They recalled a particularly frustrating incident when a promising candidate was lost due to a convoluted application process. This spurred them to create a job board dedicated exclusively to the cleaning industry. Their goal was to create a platform that served employers and truly supported job seekers.

Commitment to Dual-Focus

"Many job boards focus solely on employers, who are their main source of revenue," says Steven Pajevic. "We understand that if we attract, inform, and truly help job seekers, the employers will naturally follow. It's like running two businesses in one." This dual-focus approach ensures that Cleaning WorkSource provides value to both job seekers and employers, creating a balanced and effective recruitment ecosystem.
