Nation's largest supplier of fire protection now has more space to keep people safe after Scott-Long Construction builds relocation space.

CHANTILLY, VIRGINIA, UNITED STATES, July 22, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Scott-Long Construction has wrapped up its relocation project for Ferguson Fire & Fabrication. The construction began in October of 2023 with John F. Heltzel AIA as the architect.

Ferguson Fire & Fabrication is the nation's largest supplier of fire protection supplies. The new space the company was able to relocate to allows them to have more space for their fire protection supplies and to offer fire protection services.

“This was a great project for our team to allow a company that provides an important service, a more efficient space to do their job,” said John Scott, the CEO of Scott-Long Construction. “It also gave our team the opportunity to fine tune our skills in the area of warehouse construction and attract clients in this sector of construction.

“We are excited to expand our footprint and capabilities to better serve the DC metropolitan market,” said Don Gore, District Manager for Ferguson Fire & Fabrication. “This is another step forward in our longstanding commitment to be the trusted advisor and solution provider to fire protection contractors in the Mid-Atlantic.”

This project also marked success for Scott-Long Construction in the category of completing a project for a new client, as this was the first warehouse construction project they have done for Ferguson Fire & Fabrication.
