is excited to announce its upcoming showcase at the Spring/Summer 2025 New York showcase presented by Global Fashion Collective, tentatively scheduled to take place on September 7th 8th, 2024. This event represents a significant step for the brand, as it presents its latest collection to a discerning audience.

The New York showcase, known for its blend of established and emerging designers, offers a unique opportunity for Tess Mann Atelier to highlight its innovative approach and elegant designs. The city's rich fashion heritage and contemporary flair provide the perfect stage for this unveiling.

Tess Mann's Commitment to Slow Fashion:

“I have always believed in the value of longevity and quality in fashion, which stems from my childhood experiences of wearing well-made hand-me-downs that lasted for years,” says Tess Mann. “Our latest collection is a reflection of this belief, combining exquisite craftsmanship with sustainable practices to create pieces that are not just beautiful, but enduring.”

The Spring/Summer 2025 collection includes an array of versatile attire: evening wear, cocktail wear, resort and cruise wear, bespoke wardrobe pieces, and select bridal designs. Each piece is meticulously crafted with premium materials such as silk, chiffon, and jacquard, sourced sustainably to minimize environmental impact.

Embracing Renewable Consumption:

Tess Mann Atelier's approach to slow fashion is deeply rooted in Tess's personal history and professional ethos. Growing up in the 1960s in a financially struggling family, Tess learned to appreciate the durability of well-made clothing and the importance of recycling and repurposing garments. This philosophy drives the brand's current practices, including the use of dead stock materials and hand-selected natural fabrics.

"Our garments are made to last and only produced in limited quantities on an 'as needed' basis, preventing needless waste. Each piece is an investment in quality, designed to remain a staple in one's wardrobe for decades," Tess explains.

The New York showcase is part of a series of global events organized by Global Fashion Collective, an extension of Vancouver Fashion Week. Since its inception in 2017, GFC has been pivotal in promoting talent across major fashion capitals, enhancing global brand exposure and market reach.
