

KBA Attorneys now accepting new clients in the Cartiva® toe implant lawsuit

KBA Attorneys are seeking new clients for representation in their Cartiva® case. If you have been negatively affected by a Cartiva® implant, contact us.

BEL AIR, MARYLAND, UNITED STATES , July 10, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- KBA Attorneys is now welcoming new clients for representation in their Cartiva® toe implant lawsuit.

KBA Attorneys represents hundreds of clients nationwide who have suffered from failed Cartiva® implants. Lawsuits have been filed against Cartiva® Inc., a medical device company, and its corporate parents. These lawsuits allege that the synthetic cartilage toe implants are failing at a much higher rate than originally thought, and that the company has not complied with the post-approval requirements set out by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA). Plaintiffs claim that when these implants fail, it can lead to pain, limited mobility, more surgeries, and other injuries which can be severe and life-altering.

“To correct a failed Cartiva the patient has to undergo a second surgery to remove the Cartiva implant. The surgery will likely also fuse the joint or use another big toe implant. In some cases, patients may have to undergo third and fourth corrective surgeries due to the Cartiva’s failure.”

With the increasing number of Cartiva® toe implant lawsuits, there is a potential that the individual cases may be consolidated or pursued as a mass tort, whereby individual claimants file separate actions against the same defendant, and those separate actions can be consolidated for pre-trial and discovery purposes. KBA Attorneys are actively seeking new clients who need representation in their Cartiva® case.

If you or a loved one has been negatively affected by a Cartiva® toe implant, it is important to act now, as time may be running out. Contact our experienced medical device lawyers at KBA today for a free consultation. Take the first step towards justice by reaching out. Together, we can make things right.
