Brand new lab launches three 'Nuvoen' ampoule series for clinics

Brandnew Lab announced the launch of three ampoule products - Boost, Lipo, and PLLA - under its clinic solution brand 'Nuvoen', which has the slogan 'bring new vitality to the skin', on July 10th.

This new product line was researched and developed by Dr. Seong Eun Yoon, the director of Brandnew Clinic, who pioneered the development of contouring, sculpting, and baby injections.

With 10 years of accumulated clinical know-how, these clinic-use ampoules help refine unnecessary facial contours, improve skin regeneration and barrier, and customize volume.

The 'Nuvoen Boost Ampoule' is a blend of salmon DNA and growth factor MGF designed to enhance volume, skin radiance, dewy glow, and elasticity. It also aids in anti-aging treatment and the repair of damaged skin.

The 'Nuvoen Lipo Ampoule' is designed to manage facial contour lines, maintain elastic, threedimensional skin, and help create clearer and smoother facial lines.

The 'Nuvoen PLLA Ampoule' features biocompatible and biodegradable PLLA (Poly L-Lactic Acid) micro-particles that are absorbed into the skin, promoting self-collagen production to improve wrinkles and restore natural volume.

These ampoules can be applied to the face like regular cosmetic products. For maximum effectiveness, use the ampoules after receiving home-care derma stamping or dermatological laser treatment to enhance skin absorption.

A Nuvoen official stated, "We developed Nuvoen with a deep understanding of skin and continuous research. Manufactured by a company with ISO and KGMP certifications, our professional researchers have ensured a product that is both stable and effective."

He added, "Safety has been verified through hazardous substance detection quality tests conducted by the Korea Testing & Research Institute."

He further announced, "We will hold a 'Nuvoen Launching Symposium' for domestic cosmetic plastic surgeons at the Brandnew Clinic in Cheongdam-dong on July 22nd."

Meanwhile, Brandnew Lab Co., Ltd. is responsible for the development, business strategy, and marketing of the group's products and services, integrating Brand New Clinic, Brand New Solution, and Brandnew Cosmetic services. With a mission to achieve healthy beauty beyond natural beauty by 2023, the company is committed to transforming individual lives.
