"We get a lot of runners creating marathon posters with us, and we wanted them to be able to customize absolutely every aspect of their maps," says Founder and CEO, Adam Mizrahi. "We understand that these posters are ways to celebrate achievements, and we want each one to feel as personal and special as the actual crossing of the finish line."

MixPlaces' collection also features premade, expertly designed posters for most major marathons worldwide. Regularly updated to include new races, these posters offer a professional and stylish way to immortalize marathon experiences.

Customers can choose between street maps, topographic maps, and terrain maps. Street maps offer a traditional map view showcasing roads and landmarks, topographic maps highlight contour lines to represent the terrain's shape and elevation changes, and terrain maps display elevations and shadows for a more three-dimensional perspective.

Essential details such as kilometers, distances, and altitudes can be incorporated using the premade templates. These posters provide a detailed account of marathon journeys, making them perfect keepsakes or gifts. With MixPlaces, runners can cherish every type of race in their own personal style.
