Catanese & Wells' Senior Attorney Presents at the 38th Annual National Conference on Equine Law

WESTLAKE VILLAGE, CA, USA, July 16, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Catanese & Wells, APLC is pleased to announce that its senior attorney, T. Randolph Catanese, Esq., presented at the prestigious 38th Annual "National Conference on Equine Law" in Lexington, Kentucky. Mr. Catanese, an esteemed figure in equine law, delivered an insightful presentation on the "Effective Use of Experts in Equine Litigation."

His presentation featured a panel discussion that included expert witness Tracy L. Dopko and prominent Kentucky lawyer Christopher F. Hoskins. The panel delved into critical issues such as appraisals, valuation, and damages in equine litigation, providing valuable knowledge to attendees.

Mr. Catanese shared his enthusiasm about the event, stating, "I always enjoy sharing my experience in equine litigation with others at the national equine conference. Many times, the success or failure of a horse-litigated case will turn on the use of expert testimony and the ability of the lawyer to effectively use the expert at the outset of the case and throughout the case before a trial."

For further information, Mr. Catanese can be reached at Catanese & Wells, APLC. Visit www.cataneselaw.com or call 818-707-0407.
