A Journey Rooted in Innovation and Accessibility

Promenaid's journey began 13 years ago when a family friend faced costly challenges when installing handrails in his home. The founders of Promenaid saw an opportunity to create a better solution that would later lead to Promenaid's patented, easy-to-install handrails.

By offering pre-configured kits on Amazon, Promenaid opened the door to a broader market, attracting both individual DIY enthusiasts and large-scale commercial buyers. The growing demand in the commercial space prompted Promenaid to offer customizable options directly through their website.

Today, Promenaid's handrails are featured in hospitals, airports, and theaters across North America and as far away as New Zealand, making Promenaid a preferred choice for architects, contractors, and DIY homeowners alike.

The Importance of Reliable Shipping with FedEx

In today's fast-paced market, quick and reliable shipping is not just a goal; it's a necessity. Promenaid understands this, leveraging efficient logistics to ensure that products reach customers across North America on time.
