"He started the Lomax musical odyssey in 1876 when he began writing down the words to cowboy songs", Lomax stated.

"More singles are coming to all digital platforms every few weeks", Lomax said. "We'll start September 6 with "Home on the Range" and follow with "Froggie Went A' Courtin'", "The Virgin Sturgeon", "The Midnight Special" and "Sloop John B".

“

I think I am the oldest American musician to release a debut album"

John Lomax III

The full digital album will be issued in November with seven additional tracks", he added.

"I titled AMERICAN FOLK SONGS to honor my father's 1956 debut LP", John Lomax III remarked.

In addition to singing, his contributions include field recording, planning sound effects and cowbell licks as he is a member of AFM-257 as a cowbellist."
