

Stukent Announces ProfCon 2025: Uniting Industry Educators in Business, Communication, and Marketing

PHOENIX, ARIZONA, UNITED STATES, August 28, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The seventh annual ProfCon™ conference is set for June 4-6, 2025, in the vibrant city of Phoenix, Arizona. Hosted by Stukent®, ProfCon 2025 invites business, communication, and marketing instructors to learn, prepare, and share.

ProfCon has firmly established itself as a must-attend conference for higher education professionals eager to stay at the forefront of their industries. Attendees can expect enriching experiences through insightful sessions, interactive workshops, and valuable networking opportunities.

“ProfCon is an incredible event where those in the education community can engage with one another, learn from each other's experiences, and explore ways to improve teaching techniques,” said Jim Holm, the CEO of Stukent. “ProfCon 2025 will be our biggest in-person conference yet, with more speakers and topics.”

Networking Day Excursions:

ProfCon 2025 will kick off with a special Networking Day on June 4. Attendees will have the opportunity to enjoy a mix of relaxing and engaging activities designed to foster connections with fellow attendees. After the excursions, the conference will officially begin with an exciting opening session and a preview of the days ahead. The evening will conclude with a cocktail reception.

“My favorite part of ProfCon is the networking day,” said Kelly Crane, an educator from the University of Kansas. "Don't skip that because you end up making friendships and building a sort of team. So when you get to day one of the conference, you've got friends already, and you can collaborate with them on what you're learning in the conference."

In-Depth Sessions with Industry Experts and Like-Minded Professors:

The following two days, June 5 and 6, will be packed with inspiring sessions from renowned educators and industry professionals. These sessions will cover the latest business, communication, and marketing education strategies and best practices. Attendees will be presented with innovative teaching methodologies and valuable insights to elevate their instruction.

"I want my entire department in the business college to come to ProfCon because there's something for everyone," said Alisa Aggozzino, an educator from Ohio Northern University.

Location and Conference Venue Details:

Phoenix, Arizona, offers a captivating destination with easy access from around the world via the Phoenix Sky Harbor International Airport, a central transportation hub with numerous international and domestic flights.

ProfCon 2025 will be held at The Westin Phoenix Downtown, 333 N Central Ave, Phoenix, Arizona, 85004. This beautiful venue offers a comfortable and inspiring environment for instruction and networking.
