The indie maker of small-batch, single-ingredient treats for dogs and cats is launching its annual collection of Halloween-themed Snack Packs, six-piece treat bags festooned with pet-inspired jack-o-lanterns, cobwebs and witch hats in a self-serve box that's a decoration in itself.

Howl-o-Ween Treat Box is sure to please all parties involved. And with 31 assorted Snack Packs in each prefilled and refillable box, there is enough to treat all the four-legged ghouls and goblins in the vicinity.

Farm to Pet founder Jackson Jones is proud that the company is becoming known for gifttable holiday packaging and creative collaborations as well as the premium natural pet treats, dog chews and food toppers they manufacture 100% in-house. Says Jones, "Pets are part of our families, so why not include them in as many festivities as we can and reward them with healthy treats at the same time?"

Unlike humans and Halloween candy, pets can healthily indulge in these nutritious Howl-o-Ween treats. With just 7 calories and 3 percent fat, Turkey and Chicken Chips are a crunchy combination of flavor and nutrition, rich in the protein, B vitamins and essential amino acids dogs and cats need to thrive.

And no sugar rush from these Halloween dog treats, either. As always, Farm to Pet's healthy pet snacks contain ONE ingredient: pure locally-farmed poultry breast with nothing else added, artificial or otherwise. Plus, the company's specialized dehydration process makes its protein chips easy to digest and gentle on pet tummies, even for dogs with sensitive stomachs. Now that's a BOO-tiful Halloween dog treat for your pet!
