an even wider, more passionate, and diverse audience. Their unique platform is the perfect home for a story that blends science fiction, horror, and dark comedy. We can't wait for fans to experience the thrilling ride that LUMINA has to offer,” said McKoy, director, writer, and producer of LUMINA.

The panel, “LUMINA: The New Crossroads of Sci-Fi & Horror,” took place on Friday, October 18th, from 6:45–7:45 p.m. in Room 408 at the Jacob Javits Convention Center as part of New York Comic-Con 2024 lineup.

Moderated by New York Comic-Con mainstay Gary Miereanu, the panel featured director/writer/producer Gino McKoy and stars from the film, including Sidney Nicole Rogers (Maya), Ken Lawson (In The Cut, The Parkers), and Andrea Tivadar (Killing Eve). The special event also featured an engaging Q&A with the panelists, wrapped around several thrilling film clips and secrets from the set. The panel captivated the audience with a dynamic Q&A session, where panelists delivered insightful and entertaining responses.

“As women founders, we are ecstatic to bring forth our groundbreaking platform and streaming service, making waves globally, and our partnership with Goldove Entertainment with the release of LUMINA. Our fans call us the Netflix of the paranormal,” said Jones (CEO) and Negri (Co-Founder) of PARAFlixx.

LUMINA follows Alex and his three companions as they desperately search for Alex's inexplicably abducted girlfriend Tatiana. The quartet ventures from Los Angeles to the sands of the Sahara in search of a deep underground military base to unravel the mystery. On their journey, they encounter a myriad of shadowy, dangerous individuals, including enigmatic Area 51 expert Thom (played by Academy Award nominee Eric Roberts). Whether the group finds Tatiana or not, their lives will be changed forever.

In addition to seeing several captivating clips from LUMINA, panel attendees received a New York Comic Con exclusive LUMINA beanie cap, a LUMINA mini poster autographed by the panelists and also Eric Roberts and film's editor, Academy Award winner Thom Noble (Witness, Thelma & Louise), and the special PARAFlixx discount postcard.
