

Quilia Introduces Multi-Language Feature for Enhanced Communication in Personal Injury Cases

New feature allows clients to input information in their native language, with translations automatically included in attorney case files.

LAS VEGAS, NV, UNITED STATES, October 21, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Quilia, the leading app for personal injury case management, is excited to announce the release of a powerful new feature designed to break language barriers and improve communication between clients and attorneys. Starting today, Quilia users can enter information in their native language, which will then be transferred to the attorney's case management software in both the original language and an English translation.

This new feature empowers non-English speaking clients to communicate more naturally while ensuring attorneys receive accurate, translated information. It's a game-changer for firms using personal injury software case management to serve diverse communities, streamlining the flow of case details without losing the nuances that are often lost in translation.

"Our focus is always on improving client outcomes and ensuring attorneys have the most accurate information at their fingertips," said Kenny Eliason, CEO of Quilia. "By including both the native language and the English translation, we're making sure nothing gets lost in
