

The Respectful Divorce Podcast Discusses Divorce With Respect Week®

This year will be the 4th annual Divorce With Respect Week® from March 3-9, 2025.

CALIFORNIA , CA, UNITED STATES, October 31, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- A new episode of The Respectful Divorce podcast recently dropped featuring a discussion about Divorce With Respect Week® 2025 and the value of Collaborative Divorce.

The Respectful Divorce podcast explores the options for people considering divorce, and provides advice from divorce professionals. The newest episode features host Tim Crouch, and Melissa Lenon, chair of Collaborative Practice California (CPCAL) public education committee, talking about plans for Divorce With Respect Week® coming up March 3 - 9, 2025.

The episode goes in detail on how Divorce With Respect Week® is growing and bringing awareness of Collaborative Divorce through television interviews, newspaper coverage, and city and state proclamations. They also discussed the positive and lasting effects that can come with using Collaborative Divorce.

“There's overall a climate or an atmosphere in the United States for wanting to do divorce differently,” said Lenon on The Respectful Divorce podcast. “To have other divorce options available to them besides going head to head in a traditional litigated divorce that is decided by a judge.”

During Divorce With Respect Week® collaborative professionals offer to conduct up to three, thirty minute consultations for free. Anyone interested in talking to a divorce attorney, financial professional or mental health professional can go to www.divorcewithrespectweek.com to find a professional near them.
