“As our local employers seek out new and innovative ways to attract and retain quality talent, having a partner like Simply Driven Workforce Solutions in Wabash County will be a great asset,” Tenille Zartman, president and CEO of Grow Wabash County, said in a press release.

The firm, which started in 2013, officially opened the doors of their new office located downtown at 56 W. Market St., Wabash.

Members of the Grow Wabash Team, executive director of Downtown Wabash Kristen Petruniw, representative for the mayor, Dan Sharp of Simply Driven, and members of the public were all present for the celebration.

Zartman said in pre-ribbon-cutting comments on Friday that Wabash County “has had record-breaking business investment for two years in a row now. And our labor force participation rate is up. We're predicted to grow almost 300 jobs in the next two years. So your work is very important to me. I am very thrilled to have all of you guys here with us in Wabash County, and really appreciate you having a physical space.”

Sharp, during an interview, said “So Simply Driven, we're an executive search and a contract workforce solutions company. We do job placements for individuals that are looking to fill with local employers – or even employers across the country.

“So we do in the fields of accounting, finance, human resources, administration, automation, engineering, IT, and legal. And then, also, we do the contract business as well – which that's primarily this office here. We work with a lot of local manufacturers, whether it's entry level positions, supervisors, even all the way up to the CFO.”

Sharp said that he couldn't be happier to be back in Wabash, and that he admires how the town

“has been just all about community.”
