Dawn Home

Dawn Home's recognition in the A' Interior Design Awards holds significant relevance for the interior design industry and potential clients seeking innovative, accessible living solutions. The design showcases how thoughtful spatial planning, intelligent home systems, and the incorporation of therapeutic elements can transform a living space to meet the unique needs of individuals with physical limitations, setting a new standard for inclusive and functional interior design.

Drawing inspiration from the Oriental concept of "Tea Zen," Dawn Home creates a space that promotes inner stability and ease of living. The design team skillfully transformed a 1975 government employee dormitory into a barrier-free environment that prioritizes convenience, safety, and maintainability. By utilizing natural materials such as wood, mineral paint, woven fabrics, and metal, the interior exudes a warm and natural ambiance enhanced by the interplay of light and shadow.

The Bronze A' Design Award for Dawn Home serves as a testament to Wei Ju Teng's dedication to pushing the boundaries of accessible interior design. This recognition is expected to inspire future projects within the studio and encourage the interior design industry as a whole to prioritize inclusive, therapeutic living environments. As awareness of the importance of accessible design grows, Dawn Home stands as a shining example of how thoughtful design can positively impact the lives of individuals with unique physical needs.

Dawn Home was designed by Wei Ju Teng, Jen-Chuan Chang, Fu-Yuan Liang, and Nien-Hua Chuang. Wei Ju Teng led the project, while Jen-Chuan Chang and Fu-Yuan Liang contributed to the design development, and Nien-Hua Chuang provided expertise in accessible design solutions.
