sector is transforming with the adoption of Rotation Manager, a cloud-based platform developed to ease the logistical challenges of clinical rotations for nursing and allied health students. The platform, used by educational institutions and healthcare providers nationwide, addresses the need for organized, transparent, and compliant rotation management as healthcare demands grow.

Clinical rotations, critical for hands-on learning in healthcare, often involve complex scheduling, tracking, and compliance requirements that can be difficult for schools and clinical sites to manage. Rotation Manager offers a centralized, automated solution that manages all aspects of student clinical placements, from secure document storage, such as background checks and drug screenings, to real-time scheduling updates. The platform is designed to prevent missed rotations and ensure students comply with site requirements, easing the load for educators and administrators.

“Rotation Manager makes clinical rotations easy and compliant by bringing students, hospitals, and colleges into one unified platform,” says Max Cacchione, CEO of Rotation Manager. “Schools cut down on operational costs, hospitals increase compliance for Medicaid reimbursements, and students are provided with a portfolio to manage their clinical experience.”

With RotationManager, students can also log clinical experiences, track their progress, and create a digital portfolio, documenting their professional development during rotations. This feature aligns with the increasing emphasis on practical experience in healthcare education as students seek to demonstrate readiness for future roles.
