EINPresswire.com/ -- Liquid Logics, the nation's premier private and hard money lending technology company, is thrilled to announce an exciting integration with Sekady, an innovative leader in construction management and payment processing solutions.

This powerful partnership is set to revolutionize construction draws and risk management within private lending, providing an advanced, seamless solution for lenders, contractors, title companies, and funds control firms involved in construction projects.

Liquid Logics has long been known for its comprehensive, cloud-based Loan Origination Software (LOS), which helps private lenders quickly, efficiently, and securely manage loan portfolios. With this integration, Liquid Logics further enhances its offerings by empowering lenders to streamline construction draws while effectively managing risk with cutting-edge operational analytics. ## Enhanced Construction Draws and Payment Processing

With Sekady's powerful construction management tools now embedded within Liquid Logics, users gain real-time insights into project progress, payment status, and construction milestones.

Liquid Logics users can manage construction draws with increased accuracy and efficiency. At the same time, Sekady's embedded payment system ensures that all stakeholders—general contractors, subcontractors, title companies, and funds control partners—are paid seamlessly. This unique collaboration simplifies complex payment structures and mitigates risks, ensuring funds are appropriately disbursed at each project phase and aligning payments with project progress.
