DelphianLogic, a global leader in innovative and impactful learning solutions, celebrates back-to-back triumphs at the prestigious LearnX Live Awards for two consecutive years. After winning 6 Diamonds at LearnX Live 2023, DelphianLogic has been recognised for its transformative approach to corporate learning, in 2024 with 5 Diamond Awards and 1 Gold Award. This year, the co-winners of these awards is their partner and collaborator, the United Nations Institute for Training and Research (UNITAR).

Six Awards, including 5 Diamonds and 1 Gold, recognise impactful learning innovation

“

Our collaboration with UNITAR exemplifies the power of partnerships in delivering impactful and sustainable learning experiences.”

Saurabh Ganguli, Co-founder and CEO of DelphianLogic

The awards highlight DelphianLogic’s exemplary work on the Poverty-Environment Action (PEA) Certification Program. PEA is a groundbreaking solution designed to empower learners with the knowledge, skills and resources to address global challenges effectively. This program has already been lauded at the Brandon Hall Group HCM Excellence Awards where it won 3 Gold Awards in the categories of Best Certification Program, Best Competencies and Skill Development, and Best Results of a Learning Program respectively.

At the LearnX Live Awards 2024, DelphianLogic and UNITAR’s achievements were celebrated in six categories:

Diamond Awards

-Best Learning & Talent Development – Certification Training

- Best Learning & Talent Development – Learning Impact
- Best Learning Model – Custom/Bespoke Learning
- Best Learning Model – Online Learning
- Best eLearning Design – Free eLearning Resource

Gold Award

- Best Learning & Talent Development – Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) Training

Developed for UNITAR, the Poverty-Environment Action (PEA) program includes topics such as “Introduction to Sustainable Development Practices” and “Advancing Sustainable Development Practices.” These courses integrate sustainable development goals into policy planning and feature interactive content like expert video lectures, quizzes, and custom-designed infographics. Deployed globally, they have significantly enhanced learners’ job performance and confidence in sustainable development advocacy.

“We are incredibly honored to receive this recognition for two consecutive years at the LearnX Live Awards,” said Saurabh Ganguli, CEO of DelphianLogic. “These awards reflect our team’s relentless pursuit of excellence and innovation. Our collaboration with UNITAR exemplifies the power of partnerships in delivering impactful and sustainable learning experiences.”

DelphianLogic’s sustained success underscores its ability to create solutions that blend technology, creativity, and strategy, addressing real-world challenges while delivering measurable results.

The LearnX Live Awards 2024, held at the Melbourne Convention Centre on December 4–5, celebrated excellence in learning and development, bringing together leading organizations to showcase their innovations.

About LearnX Live:

The LearnX® Awards have been in practice since 2008. As with every year, the LearnX® Awards standings continue to surpass expectations with a surge in high-calibre applications from around the world. The LearnX® Awards are an international and professional awards program that recognizes multiple fields of learning and talent development throughout the corporate, education, public, and not-for-profit sectors worldwide. Award applications are objectively assessed against set criteria by independent judges via a points system scorecard – on merit – not comparatively. This quality-driven process ensures an equal playing field and an opportunity for success with each application.

A Platinum Award is the highest accolade (7 stars), while a Bronze Award is the lowest (3 stars). Each year the LearnX® Awards uncover the most innovative projects and technology solutions that deliver best practice and value to enterprises of various structures and sizes. Many of these experiences are then selected through consultation and shared with the wider community during the LearnX® Summit & Awards Show, also branded as 'The Main Event' by industry. The LearnX® objective is also to shine a light on the talented teams and individuals involved in these works, and the enterprises that support them.
