The announcement of 10 additional NFL Hall of Famers to the James Hardie™ Pro Football Hall of Fame Invitational brings even more excitement and anticipation for both fans and participants alike.”

Ken Kennerly, Executive Director

The players are wide receiver James Lofton, a legendary wide receiver known for his speed and consistency who was the first NFL player to record over 14,000 receiving yards; tackle Orlando Pace, a dominant offensive tackle nicknamed "The Pancake Man," who was a cornerstone of the St. Louis Rams' "Greatest Show on Turf"; wide receiver Andre Reed, who was a key part of the Buffalo Bills' offense during their four consecutive Super Bowl appearances and had one of the most dominant careers in pro football history; wide receiver Tim Brown, who over 17 seasons developed into one of the greatest receivers of his era with 1,000 receptions and 100 touchdowns in his career; running back Marshall Faulk, the engine of the Rams' high-powered offense that led to their Super Bowl win in 1999 who is widely regarded as one of the greatest running backs of all time; linebacker Derrick Brooks, who never missed a game during his 14-season career and established himself as the cornerstone for what was considered one of the NFL's best defenses for a decade; Steve Hutchinson, an elite offensive guard, dominant run-blocker and a key part of some of the NFL's best rushing attacks; Roger Wehrli, a shutdown cornerback for the St. Louis Cardinals who was known for his ability to cover the league's top receivers and force turnovers; John Randle, a fiery and relentless defensive tackle who was one of the NFL's all-time sack leaders and a disruptive force on the Minnesota Vikings' defense; and Mike Haynes, the smooth and skilled cornerback who excelled in coverage and was instrumental in the Los Angeles Raiders' Super Bowl XVIII victory.

These NFL greats join Anthony Muñoz, Demarcus Ware, Morten Andersen, Warren Sapp, Rondé Barber, Dwight Freeney, Jimbo Covert, and Calvin Johnson, who have also committed to play in the tournament. A total of 26 football legends and 78 PGA TOUR Champions professionals will come together for an exciting three-day tournament that will be televised live on the Golf Channel.
