launched a mobile app for NDIS providers in Australia, taking the rostering and disability service industry to the next level. With the launch of the NDIS support provider mobile app, RotaWiz has become the first rostering software in Australia to provide a mobile app for company administrators to manage rostering and software.

Earlier, the RotaWiz mobile app was available only for carers, but now it is also available to NDIS support providers (Administrator Staff). The rostering app is now available for Android and iOS devices. The mobile app is developed and designed specifically for company administrators to enable them to manage, track, and allocate shifts from anywhere and anytime.

The NDIS support provider app is integrated with all required features, functionalities, and tools to ensure quick and simplified rostering as well as shift management processes.

Key Features Of RotaWiz's NDIS Support Provider Mobile App:

- 1) Mobile Rostering: Whether in the office or on the go, this app allows administrators to schedule shifts from anywhere and anytime. From shift creation to modification, experience seamless mobile rostering to deliver uninterrupted disability services.
- 2) Real-Time Shift Management & Updates: The NDIS support provider app lets administrators stay in complete control of their workforce with live shift monitoring and updates. Now track check-ins, shift progress, and attendance in real time within the mobile app.

3) Centralised Dashboard: A single and intuitive mobile dashboard for instant scheduling and oversight.

Administrators can make quick and data-driven decisions related to scheduling and carers with a clear view of shift assignments, worker availability, and shift information.

4) Complete Shift Details: The mobile app enables the administrator to have instant access to all shift-related information, including assigned carers, client requirements, type of service, carer unavailability, and shift status.

5) Accessible Client Information:

Administrators can access client information like medical history, care plans, and special requirements from the mobile app, allowing them to assign appropriate carers for the shift that aligns with the client's requirements and shift type.

6) Seamless Communication: Administrators can send instant updates about shift changes, compliance requirements, and participant needs, keeping staff informed and reducing delays in service adjustments.

7) Carer Profile Access: Ensure your workforce is always compliant with easy access to carer profiles, qualifications, and certifications. This feature helps maintain NDIS compliance while ensuring that only qualified staff are assigned to participants.

"It brings us immense pleasure with the launch of our mobile app for company administrators. The support and trust of disability service providers and carers of Australia motivates us to come up with better rostering facilities leveraging the technologies," said Shiladitya Ghosh, co-founder of RotaWiz. "After successfully launching our mobile for company administrator, our team discussed what's Next. We don't want to stop here; we want to keep on upgrading and updating our NDIS rostering platform to make rostering as easy, efficient, and effective as possible. Our goal is to enable disability service providers and carers to deliver the highest standard of care services, and we want to be a contributor to the well-being of people with disability in Australia," he added
