

Iconic Art Reinvented in Neon Form on Chicago Streets

From a small workshop in Ukraine to the streets of Chicago, neon artist Dmytro Andrukhov shares his journey of light, design, and rebirth.

CHICAGO, IL, UNITED STATES, April 16, 2025

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Amid the glass and steel of downtown Chicago, artist Dmytro Andrukhov stands holding a vivid neon portrait — a glowing reinterpretation of the Mona Lisa. With the city's skyline behind him and a timeless icon in his hands, the moment captures his artistic message perfectly: art belongs everywhere — and it's meant to be seen.

Originally from Ukraine, Andrukhov's artistic voice blends classical themes with modern aesthetics, reimagining familiar icons through bold lines, saturated colors, and electric glow. His current work explores the intersection of fine art and pop culture, with a particular focus on what it means to preserve identity while adapting to a new environment.

"This piece is more than an image," says Dmytro. "It's a statement — about survival, beauty, and reinvention."

Inspired by both Renaissance classics and modern city energy, his neon Mona Lisa becomes a symbol of duality: timelessness and transformation, elegance and electricity. The piece is part of a growing body of work that Andrukhov has been developing since arriving in the U.S., bringing visual tension and harmony into the same frame.

Having exhibited in over 25 countries and participated in major art fairs, Andrukhov's work resonates with those who seek meaning in modern visuals. His recent invitation to exhibit at the Gold Coast Art Fair and Millennium Art Festival marks a new chapter in his journey — one rooted in creative freedom and cross-cultural dialogue.

Mona Lisa in Chicago

“Chicago isn’t just a backdrop,” he says. “It’s a living gallery — and every wall, every window, every corner is a canvas.”

As public interest in neon art continues to grow, Andrukhov is proving that it’s not just a trend — but a powerful medium for storytelling. Through light, composition, and cultural reference, he invites viewers to look again at the images they think they know — and discover something new.

Media Contact:

Dmytro Andrukhov

Chicago, IL, USA

Email: dimonchik.andrukhov@gmail.com

Dmytro Andrukhov

Artist

email us here

A framed LED-enhanced reinterpretation of the Mona Lisa, blending classical art with modern neon design — part of Dmytro's custom collection.

This press release can be viewed online at: <https://www.einpresswire.com/article/801098540>

EIN Presswire's priority is source transparency. We do not allow opaque clients, and our editors try to be careful about weeding out false and misleading content. As a user, if you see something we have missed, please do bring it to our attention. Your help is welcome. EIN Presswire, Everyone's Internet News Presswire™, tries to define some of the boundaries that are reasonable in today's world. Please see our Editorial Guidelines for more information.

© 1995-2025 Newsmatics Inc. All Right Reserved.